Tom's Story

Tom McClain says his service to the Willard community began "when God tapped me on the shoulder" in May 1993.

After serving in a police department in Oregon, Tom relocated after feeling a call that he could do the most good by continuing his career in Willard. Starting out in a patrol position, he began serving as the Chief of Police in Willard in July 1993.

After 32 years of service, Tom's impact on the community is immeasurable. Beyond the badge, he has led camp and character programs that have impacted hundreds of youth lives, run a DARE program to support healthy choices for students, assisted families in need through the annual Shop With a Cop holiday program, and more.

Off-duty, Tom is a husband, father of two, grandfather of five, and mentor to thousands. He's also a pastor at Rose Hill Baptist Church.

Tom's ability to give back to his family and community has been interrupted by a serious and progressive lung disease, pulmonary fibrosis. To have hope for a bright, healthy, and community-enriching future, Tom must undergo a double lung transplant.

The transplant will require at least 3 months of medical relocation for the procedure and recovery as well as full-time caregiving and time off from work. All of these needs and others come with a substantial out-of-pocket cost for Tom and his family.

That's why his loving community began fundraising with the trusted national nonprofit Help Hope Live. In less than 1 month, the community has raised over $19,000 towards the family's $30,000 fundraising goal for critical transplant costs, including raising over $13,000 in the first week.

Infused with support from his family and community, Tom is setting his sights on the future. "Initially, I was distraught and in denial about the diagnosis—but today, I can say I am fully committed to preparing for this transplant," he explained. "I still have goals at the police department, so I am single-minded about giving my all to this process and getting back to work."

Thanks to his community's support and early intervention from his medical team, Tom says, "My initial despair has been replaced with gratitude and thankfulness." Tom's medical team is estimating that he will join the waiting list for a double lung transplant as early as January or February 2026.
